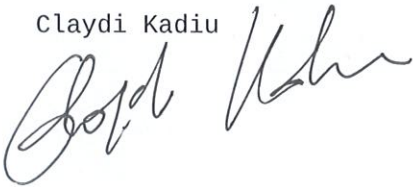
Dear Mr. President,

On the occasion of the National Day of the People's Republic of China, I would like to express my sincerest wishes for prosperity and renewed success for your country and all the people of China.


These lines are written solely as an entrepreneur not holding any government office. And the message is a gesture of personal esteem, nothing more. This occasion is beyond any interest in reciprocity or other intentions, being motivated solely by sincere good wishes.

The path of development and growth that China has embarked on in recent decades exemplifies the balance between tradition and modernity, and has made your country a leading interlocutor in the international arena. Although our positions may differ, China's strength is an asset to the whole world. I firmly believe that every gesture, however modest, can only add value to fruitful and lasting cooperation between our realities.

Hoping that your country will continue to progress, contributing to global stability and well-being, I extend my best wishes for a successful and harmonious future.

With respect and esteem,

Claydi Kadiu
